Rumor Is Circulated; Graft Defendants Arraigned.

Accused Men Make Serious Charges—Trials Set.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Defendants in the Illinois Central graft case sprang a surprise today, when they announced a plan to bring back from Honduras, "Big Dan" Coughlin, famous jury swayer, to tell who furnished the money that has kept him out of the reach of detectives for ten years, bought a fine residence for his wife and furnished her $75 a month, Coughlin, they say, may tell who sold the $20,000 cash bond he jumped when cornered here. One week ago, it was said, he was superintending a construction gang on a railroad in Honduras and private detectives are in constant touch with him. It is said he is anxious to return.

It is not pretended that Coughlin is doing any work, more than enough to keep him from going insane. It is alleged by men who have seen and talked with him that he secures his money from a much easier source and uses a railroad gang in Honduras. Another sensational development of the case was the persistent rumor that the present case are concluded, Coughlin, they say, may tell who sold the $20,000 cash bond he jumped when cornered here. One week ago, it was said, he was superintending a construction gang on a railroad in Honduras and private detectives are in constant touch with him. It is said he is anxious to return.

The three defendants appeared in court today and demanded an immediate trial.

TRIALS BEGIN FRIDAY.

It was finally decided that the case should begin Friday before Judge Ruggenheimer. The state will be asked to defend the defense to immunity to William Armstrong, now a bartender in Seattle, also connected with the jury-rigging scandal and who fled simultaneously with Coughlin, if he will return and tell who furnished the funds that kept him out of the law's clutches. The defense will offer as testimony, statements made by the late Mrs. G. A. Hawn before the master in chancery, that testimony Mr. Hawn, under oath, made the following statement: "The farming out of the road to air work to the various concerns has been getting it, was agreed on at a conference of the officials of the road and under instructions from President Harahan. It was with full knowledge of Mr. Harahan that this was finally done."

It is hoped in this manner to show at President Harahan, now appearing as a prosecutor of the three men, that he knew of their acts long ago and will be one of the first questions asked at him when he takes the witness stand. He will also be urged to explain the delay of the road in beginning prosecutions.

ASTRONOMERS ON JOURNEY.

Named Scientists Tarry in Chicago En Route to Pasadena, Where They Will Meet.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) How to conserve human energy and how best to find sun spots and other strange things peculiar to solar atmosphere are some of the problems which face members of the international Union for Cooperation in Solar Research, a number of whom arrived in Chicago today on their way to Pasadena, where their convention will be held from August 23 to September 4. The union represents the astronomical academies of the United States, Canada, England, Germany, Russia, Italy, France, Spain and Switzerland.

Most of the distinguished astronomers of the world are included among the members. The members of the union passing through Chicago were entertained today by the University of Chicago at a downtown hotel, among those present were J. L. Peltier, Ottawa, Can.; Prof. Cotton of the Normal School, Paris; Prof. Devine, astronomer royal of Scotland; Prof. Backlund, imperial astronomer of St. Petersburg, and Prof. Belopolsky, his assistant; Prof. Fabry of the University of Montpellier; Prof. Pickering of Harvard University.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) "There are clothes and gain there are clothes, but the clothes that man over there do not seem to it just right."

The above sartorial opinion was given by Detective Allen as he observed an unusual fat man waddling from the doorway of a saloon across the street.

"Expecting a warm spell of weather, isn't it?" inquired the detective.

"Never mind what I am expecting," as the reply. He seemed anxious to get away, but Allen detained him and pestered seven waist coats and three pairs of trousers, still bearing his burden of clothes the man waddled to the police headquarters.

OTTAWA (Ont.) Aug. 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Two young men, Porter and Thompson, supposed to be members of the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto, swam to the yacht West Wind of Buffalo, which was at anchor near Toronto, removed the American flag which was flying from the stern, and, after tearing it to shreds, put it back on the yacht. When the outrage was discovered the Toronto yachtmen were more indignant than the visitors.

FOREST FIRES.

land, Or., the fires are less menacing only because there is no wind. In both these places all the men obtainable have been drafted into service to back fire and trench.

In Southern Oregon the fires in many cases are of incendiary origin. This has been a matter of general gossip at Medford for several days, but it became officially published today, through the Associated Press dispatches from Washington stating that the Associated Forester at Portland had notified the forest service in Washington that the Crater Reserve and Medford fires are known to have been of incendiary origin and that new fires are being set constantly.

No hope of rain is yet given by the United States Weather Bureau in this city, the prediction of the district forecaster for tonight and tomorrow being fair weather throughout Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

DESPERATE FIGHT.

News comes from Warbler, Idaho, that F. M. Bedell of Kellogg, foreman of a crew of seventy men under Ranger Pulaski and Lewis, on the Big Creek fire, was brought home last night in an almost blinded condition. His arms, hands and face are badly blistered and show the marks of his desperate fight for life. His crew was working on the east side of the fire in the Big Creek basin. Their position became untenable, and under the leadership of the rangers they scrambled to the crest of the ridge, expecting to pass over to Placer Creek and out by way of Wallace. Seeing their position practically hopeless, the men broke into a wild stampede for the creek bottom below. Bedell and several of his men reached the creek and sought refuge in the tunnel. Six were suffocated there.

Bedell says H. J. Hennis, H. E. Smith and Will Cameron, all of Warbler, are among the dead. One of the survivors of the Big Creek disaster reached Wallace late this afternoon. They said a relief party headed by Ranger Wells had reached their camp and medical aid was at hand.

Twelve men were killed in this party. They will be buried in the woods where they died.

"We were in the heart of the fire for an hour and a half," said one of the men, an 18-year-old fire fighter, who escaped with slight burns. "When the men saw the fire coming down the gulch on our sides they were panic-stricken, and with two home-stealers, Ames and Beauchamp, ran and hid in a small cave. Beauchamp had provided the cave to hold his valuables. Six or seven were suffocated in the cave. Others were killed by falling trees and terrific wind picking up great trees and throwing them about in every direction. Out of twenty men only three escaped uninjured."

It is not thought the rescuing parties sent to Big Creek this morning will return tonight with the injured and dead of the Bell party. Fallen trees are strewn thickly along the way and trail has to be made to reach the party in distress.

A supply of medicine and first-aid supplies has been taken to the camp. Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Kenyon of Spokane, with their month-old baby, stayed through the fire Saturday night and saved.

Mrs. Kenyon is one of the women who did not try to escape from the city when it looked as though everything would be destroyed. She stayed in her room in the Samuels Hotel until the windows began to break from the heat, then went out until the fire had subsided, and came back again.

"There was really no reason why I should leave," she said. "I knew I could escape if the fire got too close and then I did not know but that I might be saved if I stayed."

The families of home-stealers, comprising fifteen persons, are believed to have perished in La Tour Creek, near Cascade, Idaho, in the great fire. They are John Andrea, wife and five children; B. A. Smith, wife and two children and James Osborne, wife and family.

Women with suitcases filled with thousands of dollars worth of valuables were on board a train when it was here and have called for help. More assistance was called for at Hoffman and Roseman Cañon, and men are sent out hourly.

EIGHTEEN DIE WHEN BRITISH CRUISER HITS KOREAN ROCKS.

Bedford, Recently Completed at Cost of Nearly Five and a Half Million, Grounds in Full Speed Test—Sailors Perish in Water Which Rushes Through Great Rent in Vessel's Bottom.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Eighteen lives were lost when the British cruiser Bedford, recently completed at a cost of nearly five and a half million, grounded in full speed test—sailors perished in water which rushes through great rent in vessel's bottom.

The accident occurred during full speed trials of the vessel, and the cruiser was evidently badly smashed, since the deaths are stated officially to have been due to the rush of water.

There are many sunken rocks in this vicinity, and navigation in the passage between Barlow Island and Gifford Island, its neighbor, is not recommended. The vessel lies in such a desperate position that there is absolutely no possibility of saving her. The hull is full of water, and the engine room bulwark, the water pouring in through gaping holes punched by the sunken rocks, and the officers and crew have been taken off.

The sister warships Minotaur and Monmouth of the British squadron which anchored yesterday near the wreck to render any assistance possible, were obliged to put to sea last night owing to the heavy weather.

The Bedford is an armored cruiser of the so-called "county" class of 3000 tons, completed in 1903 at a cost of $5,500,000. She is armed with fourteen six-inch guns, has a top speed of 23 knots, and carries a normal complement of 537 men.

The vessel was dispatched to sea for a trial run, and had been requested to furnish any possible assistance.

KANSAS HEAT PROSTRATES MANY SOLDIERS IN ARMY MANEUVERS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

JUNCTION CITY (Kan.) Aug. 22.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Marching over the hills with the temperature at 100 deg., more than thirty of the militiamen at the Fort Riley camp of instruction succumbed to the intense heat this afternoon. The guardsmen were sent out on a hike right after dinner and about 2 o'clock the ambulance calls began to come into camp.

The first regiment of Kansas National Guards which had been ordered to march, a maneuver of six miles over the hills, had fifteen men prostrated with several companies still to hear from.

Second Kansas, on a short march, had four men overcome. Fourteen men in the two regiments of Nebraska succumbed to the heat, also.

Aug. 22.—President Taft has received alarming reports as to the situation in the forest fire in the Kootenai national forest in point of area burned and timber destroyed are on the head of Libby Creek and in the West Fisher country. After Conference at Beverly He Declares President Taft Deplores Slap New York Partisans Gave Col. Roosevelt, and Hints That Leadership Fight Will Take Turn.

BEVERLY (Mass.) Aug. 22.—A visit to President Taft from Representative Mr. Cocks of the Oyster Bay district in Congress, who is one of Col. Roosevelt's closest friends, came today as a forerunner to what transpired in New York and Oyster Bay tonight.

Mr. Cocks immediately upon his arrival indicated that a better understanding was soon to be had and declared without equivocation there would be no break between the President and Col. Roosevelt.

Mr. Cocks said he did not come as an emissary from the colonel, and that his visit was incidental to a trip to New Hampshire to see some relatives.

After the conference at Burgess Park, President Taft said his talk with Mr. Cocks had been most satisfactory. He rather significantly called attention to the fact that Mr. Cocks, being a Quaker, was essentially a man of peace.

Mr. Cocks was in Beverly tonight, it was said the President's letter to him in the morning of the details and dates given, throws an interesting light upon a number of events in Beverly. Probably the most interesting of these was the interview given out by Vice-President Sherman following his talk with the President last Wednesday. On that occasion, it was reported, the President told Mr. Sherman that he had been most satisfied by the action of the State committee in voting down Mr. Roosevelt and that he wanted him to see Mr. Roosevelt and try to arrange an agreement.

Mr. Sherman, when he emerged from the summer White House, stated positively he had no intention of withdrawing as temporary chairman, and that he did not think a movement to overturn the action of the State committee in the convention would be successful. When it was suggested to him that his withdrawal might tend to harmony, Mr. Sherman asserted he was going to serve "in the interest of harmony."

There is much speculation here tonight as to what the future relations between the President and the Vice-President are to be.

A sure enough break has come out of the New York situation, but it involves Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman, rather than the President and Col. Roosevelt.

There is little doubt here that Mr. Taft and Col. Roosevelt, working harmoniously in New York State, will have matters entirely their own way, as far as the Republican party is concerned. Just what figure Mr. Sherman is to cut in the campaign that is bound to come, it is difficult to determine.

TRIALS BEGIN

CHIMMIE HAS ROTTEN LUCK.

La Longe's Wooley Heave Rattles Pitcher.

Angels Connect With Ball at Right Time.

Tozer Holds Senators Safe Throughout Game.

Los Angeles, 3; Sacramento, 1. The Angels took another fall out of the Senators at Chutes Park yesterday afternoon in the last game of the series. Although the tallenters came out on the short end, the Angels' victory was by no means a slaughter, for "Chimmie de Whaley," who served up the slants of the visitors, came very near holding his own with Tozer, who worked in the box for the Dillitones.

The Angels were fortunate in being able to hit the ball just at the right time and this, together with a home-headed play and "bum" throw to second by La Longe in the sixth frame, made it possible for the Dillitones to have a comfortable margin to their credit at the end of the franchise. There was very little real excitement in the game. Chimmie afforded the fans a little fun in the sixth when he got "sore" at La Longe, after the Sacramento catcher made the awful peg to the second station. "De Whaley" had been making a good showing in the preceding innings, although the Angels had one run while the tallenters had nothing. Chimmie was growing peevish for some reason or other and after he had walked Wheeler and Dillon had singled, in the sixth, his head of peevishness began to drip off his jaws and he was ready to fight anybody "south of Market street."

Murphy forced Dillon at second and three balls later started to second. Wheeler was on third, but La Longe blindly threw the ball toward second and Wheeler trotted home while the sphere was rolling out to Van Buren. CHIMMIE IS "SORE."

Chimmie gave La Longe a fierce "heave ho." He was utterly disgusted. Life apparently held no joys for him. The best he could do with Hallinan was to pass him to first. Then Delmas hit a slow grounder through second and Murphy scored, Hallinan going to second. This didn't improve Chimmie's state of mind and the two men on the bases advanced on a wild pitch.

But Chimmie's hard luck was not slated to last long. Two men were gone and Smith, the next batter up, flew out to Heister. The Angels had grabbed a run in the second period and their earnings in the sixth put them on velvet. The Senators got their lone tally in the eighth, but that it was probable that Chimmie would have stood 1 to 1 with Tozer at the end of the ninth if La Longe had not thrown the sphere away in the sixth.

Danzig, the big first baseman, got back into the game with the Senators after a long absence, but he didn't have much "pop" and did not help the tallenters much. Graham shook up the bunch as a result of Danzig's return, Van Buren going to center, Heister to right, and Briggs laying off.

The Angels put up a much better game in the field than their opponents. In addition to La Longe's wooley peg to second, which didn't show in the error column, the Senators made three official bungle while the Angels finished with a clean slate.

Although the Dillitones only got one more hit of "Whalen than the Senators got of "Tozer." It just happens that Chimmie got touched up when the Dillitones really wanted to score. Murphy and Delmas each got to second twice, both of "Murphy's" swats counting in the tallying. Van Buren nearly robbed him of his two-bagger, which was the only extra-base single in the game, but although he got his hands on the sphere, it was too high and going too fast to be handled.

"Daley would have got it," yelled a fan. Maybe he would have, but at any rate Van didn't.

"MURPH" COMES THROUGH. The Angels were easy picking for the Senators in the first inning, but in the second they scored the error of the game. Dillon opened the period by lining out to Perry in left. Perry was waiting for "Cap," close in, and he didn't have to move a yard to nab the ball. "Murph" hit just inside of the first base line for a single, the ball rolling into right hand of Chimmie's reach. He stole second. He didn't deserve full credit for the act, for Shinn dropped La Longe's throw to the bag. Hallinan popped to La Longe and then Delmas singled down the third-base streak, sending Murphy home and himself landing on second. Smith flew to Perry.

The Senators drew four scattered hits in the first seven frames, and while they came near scoring a couple of times, they were unable to perform the stunt. The Angels gathered two hits in the third that they were unable to convert into runs, although they had an error to help them along. It might have been different if they had not had the first hit, had not been nailed stealing second.

The Senators tally in the eighth was well earned. Chimmie himself started the trouble by singling and later crossing the pan. He wanted to win in the worst way, and if all the Senators had worked as hard as out of everybody's reach. He stole second. He didn't deserve full credit for the act, for Shinn dropped La Longe's throw to the bag. Hallinan popped to La Longe and then Delmas singled down the third-base streak, sending Murphy home and himself landing on second. Smith flew to Perry.

WHYTE AND WHITE QUALIFY FOR FINALS AT DEL MONTE.

DEL MONTE, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Austin Whyte, the seventeen-year-old champion of Honolulu, defeated Douglas Grant 4 up and 3 to play in the semi-finals of the championship golf play today. Austin Whyte and White in the same round 2 up and 1 to play, and the two men of similar names will meet in the final round.

Grant sprained his wrist in making an approach shot on the first hole and the injury seemed to bother him greatly as he lost the first four holes in succession. However, by remarkable putting he cut down the lead several times. White-Whyte match was very close. White's form is awkward and the caliber of his play is deceiving, but unsteadiness through the green was offset by wonderful putting, and that more than anything else he owed his victory.

Wright Easily Disposes of Coast Star.

Tom Bundy Survives Sixth Round of Play.

Will Meet Cragin in Semi-Finals Tomorrow.

[Associated Press Night Report.] NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 22.—Playing in splendid form, Beals C. Wright of Boston today defeated Maurice T. McLaughlin of California, in straight sets in the sixth round of the all-comers lawn tennis tournament for the national championship on the Casino courts here.

McLaughlin found the former champion's strokes invincible, and was able to win but eight games. T. C. Bundy, another Pacific Coast player, and winner with W. Kendrick of the Pacific Coast doubles championship, today defeated W. B. Cragin, Jr. Tomorrow Wright will meet Whitney, and Colston will play Bundy. The finals will come on Wednesday, and the challenge match on Thursday. Wright had no trouble in defeating McLaughlin, who did not begin to display the form expected, and at no time was a menace to Wright's success. Wright prevented McLaughlin from playing near the net save the drives which the young Californian sent into the net were in themselves sufficient to bring about his own defeat.

All-comers singles, sixth round—Beals C. Wright defeated Maurice T. McLaughlin, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2; E. H. Whitney defeated E. C. Cutting, 6-2, 6-3, 7-5; F. C. Colston defeated Dean Mathey, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4; T. C. Bundy defeated W. B. Cragin, Jr., 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

DEMAND MONEY BACK. Abs Attell Knocks Out Pride of Canada in Three Rounds at Calgary.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CALGARY (Alberta, Canada) Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In one of the slowest fights ever seen in this city Abs Attell, champion featherweight of the world, gained an easy decision here tonight over Eddie Merino. Spectators from a radius covering hundreds of miles came in to see what was expected to be a great battle between the two men but they saw a contest which could not even be called a fight. From the sounding of the gong for the first round it was apparent that Merino had not even a ghost of a show before the first round was over. He went down and Attell repeated the performance twice in the second round and again in the third. Merino's seconds threw up the sponge. The spectators agreed that Merino never had a chance to win and that he and a number of them clamored for their money back.

Wilson seem perfect for the purpose. The museum building, so-called, the very first one ever reached on ascending the mountain. In this building, views of the various astronomical buildings and the surrounding landscape will be exhibited in considerable detail, will be exhibited for the benefit of the general public. Visitors on the mountain, unless professional, and not having access to them, as the work of astronomers cannot be interrupted by casual visitors. There will also be exhibited a duplicate of the photographic plates, which will be produced in the various observatory buildings, and an attendant capable of giving lucid and popular explanations of the same.

But additional interest will be lent to this museum building, as it will be the assembly room of the congress of astronomers, and the place where they gathered on Mount Wilson next week.

The citizens of Los Angeles are taking a just pride not only in the great observatory, but in the astronomical association of distinguished astronomers, and committees from its Chamber of Commerce, and its Academy of Sciences, have arranged to give them an address by escorting them in automobile through the residence and suburban sections of the city, and inviting them to the formal dinner at the Blenheim Hotel for the same evening.

IF THE Marquis of Queensberry ever reads the ordinance on the flat game which City Attorney Saenk will present to the Council this afternoon he will realize that his famous rules are obsolete.

The ordinance is the joint work of Saenk and his predecessor, Leslie R. Hewitt, and Saenk admits it is intended to and does prohibit the fight game in Los Angeles in the future. It was drafted after receiving instructions from the Council to prepare an anti-fight law, and Saenk and Hewitt, though unfamiliar with the curves of the game, have tried to carry out the instructions.

The important section is that defining and prohibiting a professional scrap.

This section declares a professional contest one in which "the principals or persons engaging therein contend for a reward or wager in money or any thing of value, or for a medal or trophy, or who contend for a portion of the gate receipts."

This looks easy for amateur contests between Johnsons and Jeffries and other dollar trophies, but the next section concerns amateur fights and blasts all hopes for it say: "An amateur contest is one in which the principals or those who engage therein do not contend for a reward or wager in money or anything of value, or for a medal or trophy, EXCEEDING $35 IN VALUE."

And no "contest between friends with a grudge of an amateur nature may be held for or on any premises, unless a permit has first been obtained from the Police Commission."

The ordinance includes all ring prize fights, checkered riders and tacticians in its scope, and each may be fined not exceeding $500, to which fine may be added six months imprisonment, or both, for persons who rent a room or premises for a fight, or permit one to be held, or acquiesce in one, or receive the same punishment as a principal.

Having entirely prohibited the professional game, the new measure proceeds to lay down rules for the amateur sport. It permits only four rounds in any one contest, and they must be no more than three minutes each, with a one-minute rest between rounds. Then eight-ounce gloves may be used.

Those are the principal provisions of the new law, but there are others which will be of interest to the public not have prepared last night.

That he was struck because he refused to break an agreement about the payment of house rent was the explanation Alfred Elliott, 48 years old, living at No. 347 North 14th street, told the police. He was alone last night when he was taken into the Receiving Hospital to have his face treated for severe bruises.

According to Elliott's story, he was told seven months ago when he rented the house in which he is now living that he should pay the rent to the owner only. He said that the owner never blimed him for not following instructions and that the woman called regularly until yesterday when the owner appeared and asked for the money. Elliott said he had no money at the time and that he had made up his mind of the arrangement and refused to pay him. Elliott said the man then struck him with his fist.

Elliott was bandaged and released. No complaint yet seen issued against the landlord.

OF THE Marquis of Queensberry ever reads the ordinance on the flat game which City Attorney Shenk will present to the Council this afternoon he will realize that his famous rules are obsolete.

It is the joint work of Shenk and his predecessor, Leslie R. Hewitt, and Shenk admits it is intended to and does prohibit the fight game in Los Angeles in the future. It was drafted under general instructions from the Council to create "an anti-fight law, and Shenk and Hewitt, though unfamiliar with the curves of the game, have tried to carry out the instructions.

"The important section is that defining and prohibiting a professional scrap.

This section declares a professional contest one in which "the principals or persons engaging therein contend for a reward or wager in money or anything of value, or for a medal or trophy, or who contend for a portion of the gate receipts."

This looks airy for amateur contests between Johnsons and Jeffries and other prize fighters, but the next section concerns amateur fighting and blasts all hopes. For it says "An amateur contest is one in which the principals or those who engage therein do not contend for a reward or wager in money or anything of value, or for a medal or trophy NOR EXCEEDING $500."

And no "contest between friends with a grudge" of an amateur nature may be held for a "measly $25 medal, unless a permit has been obtained from the Police Commission.

The ordinance includes all ring prize fights, prize fights and sports contests in its scope, and each is confined not exceeding $500, to which imprisonment not exceeding six months may be added. Not only the persons who rent a room or premises for a fight, or permit one to be held, are liable, but they may receive the same punishment for aiding the fight.

Having entirely prohibited the professional game, the new measure prohibits prize fights for $25 amateur sport. It permits only four rounds in any one contest, and they must not be more than three minutes each, with a one-minute rest between rounds. Then light-ounce gloves may be used.

Those are the principal provisions of the new law, but there are others which will be of interest to Shenk. He has not yet prepared last night.

THE POLITICAL
WATCH TOWER

Hear me! This is straight.
Boss Lissner and
the Lincoln-Roosevelt party are facing a crisis.
On Saturday,
when the county conventions assemble in this city, they will have to come out of the woods and openly turn traitor, either to their Democratic allies, or to the Republican party.

The decision of the L-R leaders—as to which way they will give the double cross—will be an important chapter of the political history of California.
For reasons that will be enumerated, it is reported that Mr. Lissner is in favor of patching up a truce with the regular end of the Republican party and breaking the pledges he made to the Democrats.
He has only until Saturday to make up his mind.

Both the Democratic and Republican county conventions will take place on Saturday. The Democrats will meet in Blanchard Hall, the Republicans in Simpson Auditorium.

The Democratic convention will be comparatively tame. McDonald, the trouble kid from Fresno, who intends to make an effort to stampede Albert M. Norton out of the chairmanship of the Democrats in this county, but this is only one of the unimportant family quarrels without serious significance.

The present outlook is for a history-making Republican convention.
The expectation is that a resolution will be introduced, pledging the convention to support the Republicans nominated at the primaries last week.
This resolution is the crisis that Lissner has to face.

If he allows his delegates to support it, he will have to repudiate the pledges he made to the Democrats to support certain of their candidates.

For instance, by supporting such a resolution, he will pledge his Lincoln-Roosevelt ticket to support Capt. Fredericks for District Attorney, when it is a well-known fact that the Lincoln-Roosevelt support has long been promised to Tommy Woodbine.

If, on the other hand, Lissner fights the passage of such a resolution, he will have to formally break with the Republican party and set up housekeeping with the Democrats.

And it is the general belief that Lissner is very much inclined to make peace with the regulars and to support such a resolution.

He is influenced by the danger of the candidate for Governor, and the candidate for the State Legislature.
It is generally understood among politicians that Hiram Johnson and his managers are anxious that peace should be made with the regulars in the South. Hiram is by no means out of the woods.

The air is full of rumors of trades and treaties that are attempted to be negotiated between Johnson's people and the adherents of Curry.

The anxiety of Johnson and the L-R people for a truce of peace is highlighted by disturbing rumors about the intentions of the Democrats in the coming campaign.

Plans are made by the Democrats aver-to bring out spell-binders of national reputation to make a campaign for Theodore Bell. They also intend to carry the field with a crowd into one of two of the Congressional districts.

The fight for a "Democratic Congress" will have a little more than Liss-ner and his crowd care to tamper with.

If Lissner throws down the local Democrats and supports the nominees selected at the primaries (the majority of whom are regulars) he will call them Democrats and the Lincoln-Roosevelt ticket a trade.

They demand that the Good Government Organization endorse Tommy Woodbine in preference to accepting Capt. Fredericks; demand for tax collector in place of Col. Welch; Pratt for Coroner in place of Col. Hart; and Mayhew instead of Henry Lyon for the State Legislature.

Lissner is, of course, for holding off
this meeting.
The Democrats threaten, in case the Good Government Organization fails to endorse the Democrats mentioned, to repudiate the whole Good Govern-

a corrupt breaker of promises.

One Kind of Enterprise

One Kind of Enterprise

We must admit that we have some enterprising competitors. They looked over the field and found that "Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate" was used in a majority of Pacific Coast homes, found that it was unrivaled for delicious-ness, smoothness, strength, flavor and economy; found that it was the most popular food product in all the West.

So instead of trying to build up a reputation for their own product, they simply copied our name, "Ground Chocolate," because we had been using that name exclusively since 1875 and they hoped people would think that they were getting the genuine when the imitations were handed out to them.

But you can save yourself from that sort of enterprise by looking at the label when buying "Ground Chocolate," to see that it bears the name of "Ghirardelli," for that is the only genuine.

driven to it by hunger, and after that was ashamed to return to Margolis,

STRANGE. QUEER POWER OF FANATICS.

YET HOLY ROLLERS BALK AT WORLDLY MESSAGES.

Members of Sect Fail to Deliver Telegram From Uncle to Starving Girl, Who, with Two Others, Is Rescued by Deputy Sheriff—Glad to Eat.

Are the Holy Rollers afraid of their power over the members of their sect? If they are not, why did the poor child they have been "caring for" never get a kindly telegram which was sent to her? These questions are asked by persons who have been watching the proceedings of this group in Highland Park.

Little Miss Alice Griffin, the child who was deluded by the Holy Rollers into believing that she would be able to see the Throne of Grace after a forty-day fast, yesterday denied that she ever received a letter from her uncle in New York. She said she did not even know him. She has had neither letter nor telegram from this Dr. Griffin, and if any letter came, it has been kept from her. For corroboration of this statement, she referred to her "mother," Nellie Boyle, who has claimed to be the child's aunt, and who has been nursing also.

The two have been fasting about thirty days, and are both wasted away from any semblance of flesh. The bones show cruelly through the pallid skin of the little girl, and her eyes have nearly lost the power of sight. The fast has been broken now, and they are both very glad to eat whatever the nurses will let them. The younger girl has considerable difficulty in eating, for her lips, which she bit until they bled, are covered with sores, and so swollen that the teeth can scarcely be closed.

When Alice was asked about the letter her weakness was most pitifully made manifest, for, after she had said that she had never had a letter, telegram, or other word from any uncle in Brooklyn, she called—if whispering faintly, but with the greatest effort could be spoken of as calling—"doctor," and when the attendant went to her bedside she was as eager as a person unable to lift a hand, or look sideways, can be. "What else have you heard about me having an uncle?" she feebly inquired.

"That's all just that you had a message from him to come to Brooklyn and let him take care of you," was the answer, which seemed to disappear, for she had never received it.

"If you got such a message would you go to him?" she was asked. And she whispered: "I could not leave my mother; I have been with her for so long."

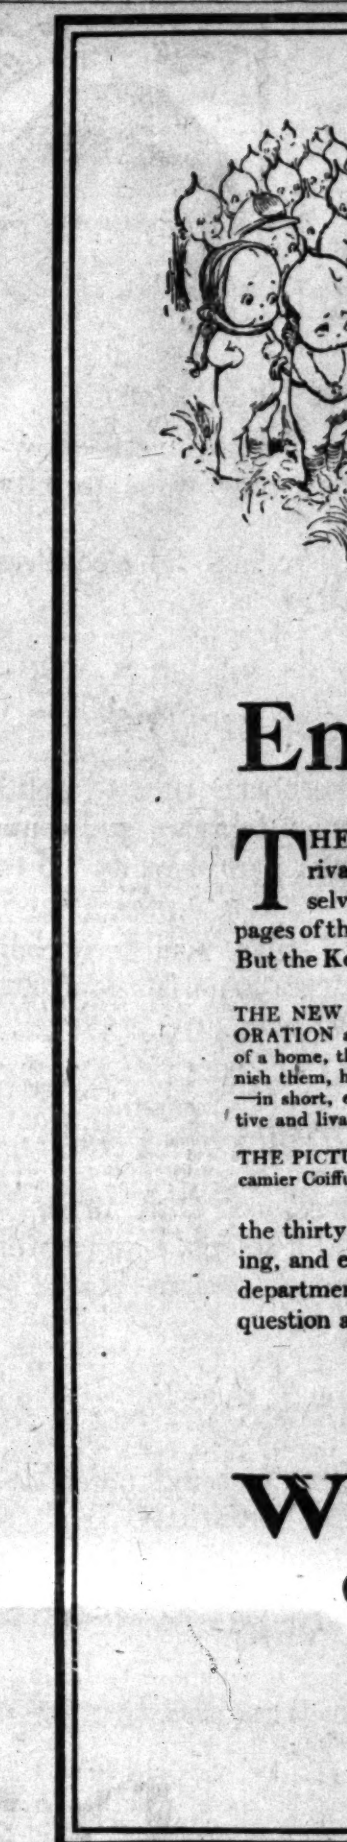

The "mother" said she did not know of any relatives the child had in New York, and that if they received any such order, they would be glad to have the little girl provided for. She herself was too weak to care what became of her.

"Why did you undertake such a foolish thing as the long fast?" was asked of "Miss Boyle," as she gave her name.

"Why," she seemed as if everything came to her, "I had lots of trouble, and was all worn out, and it seemed as if I had no strength to resist. Why, they had me in it before I knew what I was doing." She stopped talking, all out of breath.

"Did you start the sect of your own free will, or did you not?" was the next question.

"I didn't know just what I was doing; I seem to have been in a trance for a long time, like I have been asleep," she said. Her far-away stare emphasized the fact that she felt as though she had just come out of a trance. The Holy Rollers, according to the woman's story, must have had a pretty strong influence over her at the time when she was mentally ill and dependent, and too weak to resist their blandishments. The fact remains that Dr. Griffin of Brooklyn has openly asserted that he is the child's uncle, and would care for her if she was sent to Brooklyn, but the message has never reached the girl, who, despite her touching devotion to her so-called aunt, would be pitifully glad to see her. It is a pity that the indifference of despair when told that there was no further word.

Phil K. Gordon, appointed general agent on the Pacific Coast of the Sunset Route, passenger department.

TAKES COAST AGENCY. Seasoned Railroad Man Appointed to Have Charge of Sunset Route Passenger Department. Announcement is made by C. K. Dunlap, traffic manager of the Goletton, Haggisburg & San Antonio Railway, of the appointment of Phil K. Gordon as general agent of the passenger department of that line for the Pacific Coast and to represent the Southern Pacific Company's lines in Louisiana, the M. & T. Railway, and the Atlantic steamship lines of the Southern Pacific Company, effective September 1.

Mr. Gordon has for the last seven years represented the Washington-Sunset route as Pacific Coast passenger agent, which organization he leaves to form a new organization representing the lines stated. Gordon's services began in 1886 under Gen. T. H. Goodman of the Southern Pacific.

For five years he represented the Canadian Pacific Railway and Steamship lines in San Francisco, and in 1909 was appointed by E. O. McCorkle as city passenger agent for the Southern Pacific. He is a son of Brig.-Gen. David S. Gordon, U.S.A., retired, now living in San Francisco. New agencies will likely be created in San Francisco and Los Angeles to care for the Sunset Route business under Gordon's direction.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MONTAGUE.

Good Woman, Who Died on Saturday, Will Be Laid to Rest in Rosedale This Afternoon.

In the sudden death of Mrs. Hortense Montague, which occurred on Saturday last, shortly after noon, a strong and lovely character was removed from the midst of a large circle of relatives and friends. In apparent good health, and engrossed in the duties of a useful life, she was called without warning to the life beyond. Uncomplaining, strong in her sense of duty and right, she with faith met fearlessly every obstacle, and gave to her home and children intense love and devotion. She came to Los Angeles a bride in 1880, and ten years later suffered the loss of her husband, when she heroically assumed the responsibility of rearing her children. She was a native of Minnesota, was aged 45 years, and leaves three daughters to mourn her loss. They are Mrs. Stella M. Schneider, Mrs. Lillian M. Osborne and Miss Helene Montague, all of this city. The funeral will be held today at 2 o'clock, at her late residence, No. 2028 Oxford avenue, and interment will follow at Rosedale Cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Warren F. Day of the First Congregational Church.

THE CONTEST, ITS AIMS.

First of the objects of The Times Annual Scholarship Contest, now drawing to a close, is to assist deserving, earnest young people to obtain an education along some special line desired by each.

Scholarships are offered in the leading educational institutions of Southern California. The winners secure these free scholarships.

The young workers are also paid commissions on all the subscription-getting they do for The Times, thus earning good money while struggling for an education.

There is a graded scale of credits, new annual subscriptions counting most in the score.

There are also cash prizes, running from $500 down, for those who do the best. Some of the young people ardently hope to be able to apply these large cash sums to the finishing of their education. Somebody will get the $500. Somebody will get the $200.

And a lot of busy little somebodies will get the scholarships!

Now is the time to help these little workers. Not quite two weeks more of the race remain to be run. A year's subscription may turn the prize most desired to some worthy young man or woman, some boy or girl that aspires to the highest things.

without effort. Her slight lameness adds to the hold which she has upon the affections of her friends.

Ben Knapp, who is third on the list, has also an ambition to go through college, and in fact his ambition amounts to a settled determination. He will go through college, for that is his type. He makes up his mind and then he does the thing, no matter what the difficulties.

He wishes to gain the $500 prize, and hard work and a well-planned campaign can win, he will get there. Although "Big Ben" is a boy in appearance and manner, he is a thorough business man when it comes to planning a campaign. Every move he makes is full of purpose.

Eric Pratt, "Eric the Bold," is blunt and businesslike. He goes straight to the point without waste of words, and he gets the points that count. Eric is a fine-looking boy and is far from a "quitter."

Clifford Neil, the young cartoonist of Covina, is of sober, philosophical trend of mind, a reader of Emerson and the old-time thinkers. He has unquestioned talent as a cartoonist and is ambitious to become one of the best. He is after a scholarship in the Artists' League. He has turned in some great scores and is likely to continue to do so.

Remember that the wayside contest for the $10 in gold, offered personally ably afford to give the children an education," I exclaimed haughtily.

"It isn't that, Maria," said my husband. "It is the fact of his working for the education, and the experience he will get in doing so."

"I do not see that it is anything but begging some one to help you to what your own people ought to give you," I said severely. "And besides," I added, "I want to spend the summer at the beach."

"That's all right, do so; but let Jimmie stay up here with me, and we can both run down for Sunday," I was miffed; but I decided to go on with my plans, and I thought that probably Jimmie would be ready to give up the contest and come with us after he had a taste of hard work for a few days.

When we left, he was so absorbed in the contest that we did not even see him, as he had arisen at 5 o'clock to go after a subscription at a place in the suburbs. I kept wondering whether he got that subscription, after getting out so early after it, and the first thing I did after getting down to the beach was to phone in and ask him about it. He said the people had disappointed him and he felt awfully about it. I told him not to mind, that I would get one for him to make up for it. So I asked my next door neighbor if she took The Times and when she said "No, she didn't and she wouldn't," I said, "I had exhausted the possibilities of my immediate neighborhood, I went far afield, and I tramped and worked harder than I had ever worked before for anything. If any one said anything against The Times I felt it as a personal affront, and let them know it, too."

Long before the end of the summer I decided to go back to town as I knew of several ways in which I thought I could help Jimmie in his contest. So, we moved back home and there for twenty-four hours was the top of the list. That did me good, and I went back to the beach determined that if any one failed to know me, that I would be sure to let him know that I was back, and to help if it were possible, it would be because I was not a convincing talker. I had by this time read all about the contests which by the scholarship manager, closes this evening at 5:30 o'clock. This contest is upon the greatest number of points gained; and to sum it all up, barring the bonus for clubs. It is open to all.

To those who, on the morning of Tuesday, August 16, were behind the twelfth place, bring in 2000 points or over on new subscriptions, by the closing hour this evening, the manager will give a pretty souvenir of the scholarship contest.

This is the last day of manager's week. Score. Count. Turn-up of all contests is in prospect.

HELPING HIM WIN.

BY JIMMIE'S MOTHER.

When Jimmie first talked of going into The Times scholarship contest, I wouldn't listen to it.

"Why," I asked, "should you wish to work for a scholarship, when your father can buy you one?"

He argued that it was experience and that it was fun, and that he knew several boys who had gone in last year and had made good vacation money and had also won cash prizes and scholarships as well; and to sum it all up, he was set upon going in for it.

I had intended to spend the summer at the beach and I did not want to be bothered with anything that seemed like school, for what with Joe and Jimmie and Mary to look after, all the school year, I thought I deserved a genuine vacation myself.

One day at breakfast, when Jimmie was as usual talking about the contest, and who was going in, and I was as usual offering every possible objection, his father looked up from The Times and said: "Let Jimmie go into the contest if he wants to. It's the most sensible thing I have ever heard him propose."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

VETERANS ARE AMUSED.

Bureau Court-Martial Serves to While Away Time at Huntington Beach Encampment.
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 22.—A bureau court-martial served to amuse the veterans at the encampment this morning. Charging, greeted a verdict of guilty against one old soldier, the charge being the appropriation of a big watermelon. The man was sentenced to wear a placard around his neck proclaiming his guilt. Another prisoner, charged with assault, was acquitted, although Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage patch and all her children testified against him.

An escape from prison through a tunnel was an exciting representation during the afternoon, when Capt. James M. Wells of Glendale told of the methods by which he and 148 other prisoners escaped from the horrors of Libby. During the Civil War he was a member of the Eighth Michigan cavalry. Capt. Wells recounted the story of the tunneling through sixty feet of dirt with a single chisel and the hardships and hunger suffered while reaching the Union lines only forty-three men managing to avoid capture.

A night riverboat post and corps presented an enjoyable entertainment at a prominent feature of which was an illustrated lecture on Abraham Lincoln by W. H. Ellis of that city. Vocal and instrumental music and recitations were given. Great expectations are entertained by the veterans of enjoyment tomorrow, when the camp will be under petticoat government after the famous bean dinner will be served to more than 1000 men in camp.

POISONS GIRLS.
KILLS HIMSELF.
DEPENDENT SAN BERNARDINO MAN TAKES LIVES.

San Bernardino, Aug. 22.—Paul Marks, a carpenter, during a fit of despondency over family troubles, and ill-health, killed his two younger daughters, Erna and Louise, ages 12 and 7 years, respectively, by poisoning them, this morning, and then shot himself through the heart. The crime occurred at the Marks residence on Mill street, east of town, Charlotte, the 17-year-old daughter was in the house at the time the poison was administered, but knew nothing of the affair until she discovered the two little girls in convulsions.

At the inquest this afternoon, she testified that her father had been absent from home since Saturday. He returned this morning, and appeared to be in his usual spirits. After he had been in the house some little time the witness found the younger of the two girls unconscious in a spare room. She carried the child to the dining-room, her father trying to assist her. Louise was placed on the dining-room table, and in desperation the witness rushed to the residence of Mrs. Matt Ament for help. Just before she left her home, Erna, who had been acting in a hysterical manner, suddenly clasped her hands together and, with a cry fell to the floor.

Before the girl reached the Ament home she heard a shot. The other officers were summoned, and found father and two girls dead. A short distance from the man lay the revolver, and close by a bullet, which is presumed to be the one which entered the body.

An investigation brought to light three empty glasses in a vacant room in the house, an empty vial, which had contained strychnine, and a box containing mysterious capsules. The empty bottles are stained with strychnine and contain an odor as though beer had been sipped from them. It is presumed the father poured beer for his two children, filling a glass for himself also, and into these three glasses he placed the poison. When the elder daughter left the house he decided to end his own sufferings, and so used the revolver.

The daughter testified that the father had once possessed of means, and his financial reverses played upon his mind. In addition he worried over ill-health, and frequently threatened to commit suicide. He was a widower, and had two younger children with him. He feared that they would suffer poverty or unknown from strangers if left without him.

MRS. MACKLIN DIES.
Mrs. Robert T. Macklin who was injured a week ago Sunday by being thrown from a wagon in Lytle Creek, upon a clump of yucca stalks, which pierced her body, died this afternoon. She leaves a widower and two daughters, 17 and 14 years of age respectively.

ONLY A MYTH.

Girl Admits That Her Story of Having Been Assaulted Sunday Night Was Ill-founded.

Elise Prensell, the 14-year-old girl who alleges that she had been struck on the head and knocked unconscious when she was found on the sidewalk in front of Wing Kee's place, East Tenth street, near San Julian, at about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, confessed to Detective McKenzie yesterday that the story of the assault was only a myth.

The girl, under pressure of the detective's cross examination and coaxing, admitted that she had stayed out too late in Westlake Park and was ashamed to go home to the St. Ann Hospital, where she worked in the kitchen.

She sat down on the curb and went to sleep where she was discovered by the Chinese, E. P. Tuttle, a night watchman and J. Harrington, who took her to the Receiving Hospital.

HEINZ WILL MARRY ACTRESS.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Vivits Augustus Heinz at his office today confirmed the report that he is to marry Miss Bernice Henderson, an actress. Mr. Heinz said the ceremony would take place about September 1, and that they would go to Europe and then visit his copper mine in Butte, Mont.

The boy and a young friend named Thompson, who lives at No. 124 West Thirty-eighth place, had been riding along Wilshire Boulevard and started a race for the fire. Rushing up the hill they passed on either side of the buggy of C. M. Vance, an employee of the water department whose spirit-ed horse was trying to run away and keeping directly behind fire engine No. 11, handled by Driver Bustillo.

The Thompson boy held the curb, jockeying for the corner with the intention of darting ahead of the engine. Peddling like mad, Gibbs shot between the buggy and the fire engine and dropped in right behind his little friend. At the same time Bustillo was beginning a wide circle to turn the corner into Coronado. Thompson shot ahead from the curb, passing almost immediately under the nose of the plunging horse and gaining the middle of the street safely.

Young Gibbs tried to follow in the footpathy track, but he was just a second too late.

The shoulder of one of the big horses, swinging hard in the turn, caught the lad as he bent over his handle bars. The next instant, the bicycle and its rider were hurled to pieces under the heavy hoofs.

The injured boy, still conscious, was rushed to the Receiving Hospital. His father, a representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, hurried to his side. The boy was found to be mortally injured. Several of his ribs had been crushed into his lungs, his right leg was broken, his left foot crushed, and he was otherwise badly hurt.
